

BAPTISTS WILL HOLD REVIVALS

Fifteen Churches in City and Suburbs to Join in Revival Sunday.

The Baptist hosts of Chattanooga and vicinity are looking forward to Sunday at which time the simultaneous revival services will begin. Fifteen Baptist churches of the city and suburbs will be engaged in this campaign.

The services will be under the direction of the evangelistic force of the Southern Baptist Home Mission board, of which Dr. W. W. Hamilton, of Knoxville, Va., is the general superintendent. The personnel of this evangelistic force is composed of many of the strongest evangelists and most gifted singers to be found in the household of the Southern Baptist convention and who were selected because they were recommended as specialists in their respective lines.

Many Evangelists.
At the First Baptist church, Dr. B. B. Bailey, of Shelbyville, Ky., will be the evangelist. Dr. Bailey is regarded as one of the most masterly speakers among Southern Baptists. Associated with him in the services will be James W. Jelks, of Macon, Ga. Mr. Jelks is known as the "sunshine singer" because of his genial disposition. Together they are said to make an unusually strong team.

Dr. W. W. Hamilton will be the speaker during the campaign at the Central Baptist church. For several years Dr. Hamilton was pastor of the First Baptist church of Lynchburg, Va., giving up that work to become superintendent of the Southern Baptist evangelistic force. Dr. P. Martin, one of the most effective musical directors connected with the workers, will have charge of the music at the church.

The evangelist at the Baptist tabernacle will be Rev. W. Thol, of DeLand, Fla., while John D. Hoffman, of Atlanta, will direct the music. Both of these men have been associated with the pastor of the tabernacle, Rev. T. C. Callaway, in several previous meetings, and he considers his church fortunate in being able to secure their services for this campaign.

The Highland Park church will have Dr. C. A. Owens, formerly pastor of the First Baptist church of Salisbury, N. C., as evangelist, while R. O. Bell, who for the past four years has been assistant pastor and music director at the Baptist tabernacle of this city, will conduct the music. The new church building of the Highland Park church is not sufficiently advanced for services to be held in it, but the Highland Park M. E. church, 207, courteously tendered the use of its building for the services of the week nights will be held there. The Sunday services will be held at the Junior High school building.

Rev. E. S. Spencer will be the evangelist at the St. Elmo Baptist church, and W. J. Work will be the singer. Both are men of fine experience. At the Park Rev. W. F. Frazier will be the speaker, while S. J. Spencer will have charge of the music. Mr. Frazier is from Springfield, Mo., while Mr. Spencer is from Marion, Ill.

The Knoxville Baptist church considers itself fortunate in having Rev. E. S. P. Pool as evangelist. E. G. Johnson will be the musical director of the campaign at Knoxville.

Rev. G. C. Smith is to be the evangelist at East Lake and J. S. Rushing will be the singer. Both are men of fine experience.

The Ridgeland Baptist church will have Rev. A. P. Boddie, of Dallas, Tex., and J. P. Carter, singer, of Hendersonville, N. C.

The Avondale Baptist church will have Evangelist W. E. Neill, of New Orleans, and Charles O. Miller, of Sherman, Tex. These men have been highly successful in their work.

Rev. W. J. Ray will be the speaker at the East Chattanooga Baptist church. Associated with him as singer will be E. A. Patterson, of Montgomery.

The Chamberlain Avenue church will have as preacher Rev. L. C. Wolfe, of Muskogee, Okla. W. J. Morris, of Pine Bluff, Ark., will have charge of the music.

Rev. W. C. McPherson will be the evangelist at North Chattanooga Baptist church. This is the second meeting Mr. McPherson has held with this church. Jesse T. Williams, of Atlanta, will be in charge of the music.

Rev. D. D. Head will have charge of the services at Woodland Park Baptist church. Mr. Head is no stranger to the Baptist churches of Chattanooga, having been reared a few miles below the city on the Georgia side. Harry T. Wooten will be in charge of the music.

At the Oak Grove church the evangelist will be Rev. H. T. Stevens, until recently pastor of the Dead End Avenue church, of Knoxville. A. E. Lynch will be the musical director at that church.

A large mass meeting for Sunday afternoon is being arranged for and will be held at the First Baptist church. The services of the week nights will be held at night in each church taking part in the campaign, while at the First Baptist church each morning a central, union service will be held at which time a different evangelist will speak.

WILFUL OUIJA

BY RUTH NEELY.

Chapter XLIV.

Rosalie had been searching her memory for something big there. Now it came forth. "Why, I know a case almost similar to Nora's. Dr. Newton Findley had it. The sister of a nurse, who cared for Nora some time ago, when she sprained her hip, believed for months that her brother-in-law was her husband."

"What cured her?" asked Dr. Hathams.

"A counter shock, I think," replied Rosalie.

"Exactly. That is my plan. And now are you agreed?"

"Yes," Rosalie assented slowly. "I agree. I know you would not take chances with Nora. Would you?"

"I would not." That was all, but his grave eyes convinced her.

A question from Rosalie halted him as he hurried away. "Where will you get the other person, Dr. Oulney?"

"That," he answered over his shoulder, "is what I am going to see about now."

In the room he entered was one person, a young man, sitting in an armchair. "I have on hand," he said to this young man, "you will not mind, will you?"

"Only too glad," was the hearty response. "It's about time I did some work, I guess, after the way you fixed me up."

"Any better?"

"The pleasant face of the young man clouded over, but he spoke cheerfully. "Well, not that way, but everything else is fine as silk. When will you want me, doctor?"

"Call 'em."

"In a few minutes, I think. Stay."

"The Only Thing That Counts," a new serial story by Carolyn Beecher, well known to readers of The News, will follow "Wilful Oulney." The first installment will appear next Monday, Nov. 8. Carolyn Beecher has shown her versatility in this tale, the scene of which is laid in Greenwich Village, with all its quaint surroundings and unusual characters. The story centers around a western girl, who appears in New York under circumstances which throw no light on her past, and each succeeding chapter arouses the reader's interest until the love mystery is unravelled.

State Teachers Urge Many Changes In School System; Seek New Laws

A copy of the resolutions adopted by the State Teachers' association in session at Knoxville last week, as given out by Supt. R. L. Jones, of the Chattanooga schools, the newly-elected president, is as follows:

"1. We approve the appointment of a committee of education who shall be in charge of the state setting forth the educational condition in Tennessee; and that the press of the state be requested to publish their findings in order that the general public may be informed as to the needs of the schools of the state.

"2. Recommending that much money is wasted in the construction of ill-arranged and insanitary school buildings, we recommend state supervision of schoolhouse architecture, and that state funds shall not be used in the construction of schoolhouses that do not meet the modern requirements in schoolhouse architecture.

"3. We favor the modification of the law electing school boards so that the tenure of board members may be such that the term of one member only expires each year. This will guarantee a continuity of policy and will prevent, in many cases, an entirely new board being elected each year. We further recommend that boards of education be elected by the county courts.

"4. We favor as our ultimate goal, the establishment of a system of public schools, the earliest date possible, that the requirements for entrance into the profession shall be:

"(a) For an elementary school teacher, two years of normal training in advance of the completion of a four-year high school course.

"(b) For teachers in a high school, the completion of a four years' college course, which shall include professional courses.

"5. Recognizing the present teacher shortage, and that a relatively small number of young men and women are being attracted to the profession because of low salaries paid, we favor fixing the minimum salary for elementary teachers who have had the right here. I will have the attendant call you."

"They had brought clothing of Nora from the hotel. Very lovely she looked, but fragile almost beyond words, as she stared up into her sleep, father's smiling face.

Rosalie was in the room but at a motion from "Dr. Hathams" withdrew to the entrance hall. Dulaney then began to speak.

"Nora, your friend Rosalie has told me what troubles you. She said that you are separated from your husband, who died overseas, and that you hear him calling you and you can hardly wait to join him. Is that true?"

"Yes, that's true. He's calling now. I hear him—I try to answer him. Listen! Tell me, will I meet him soon?"

"Very soon. I shall not keep you waiting any longer." He leaned over, gazing intently into her face. As he did so her eyelids quivered and half closed.

Dulaney stepped backward to the door, beckoning the attendant, spoke hurriedly and again approached the bed on which Nora lay, watching quickly.

"You were right about his coming," said Dulaney, as quick footsteps sounded in the hall.

Hurriedly, yet glancing at "Dr. Hathams" for direction, Dulaney had asked to help him entered the room.

"A wild cry from the bed. "Roger! Roger! Roger!"

The young man stood transfixed a moment, and daring forward cried: "Nora—it's come back—Nora! You brought it back—you brought my memory back!"

Bennett Brings Bride to the City

Bride Tells Why She Forsook Footlights for Home-Town Beau.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bennett, who were married recently in Nashville, are now at the Hotel Patten, where they will be during the winter months.

Before her marriage to Mr. Bennett, Mrs. Bennett, "Evelyn Harris," was playing with Florence Reed in the "Mirage" in the Times Square theater at New York, taking the part of the little sister, and when it was announced that she expected to leave the stage and return south, the entire cast gave her a farewell party the night before she came to Tennessee. Among those who were present at this affair were Dorothy Dalton, Vivian Martin, Grace Darling, Mildred Manning, Florence Reed, Florence Nash and Coleman Dupont and Reginald C. Vanderbilt.

"Very soon, I shall not keep you waiting any longer." He leaned over, gazing intently into her face. As he did so her eyelids quivered and half closed.

Dulaney stepped backward to the door, beckoning the attendant, spoke hurriedly and again approached the bed on which Nora lay, watching quickly.

"You were right about his coming," said Dulaney, as quick footsteps sounded in the hall.

Hurriedly, yet glancing at "Dr. Hathams" for direction, Dulaney had asked to help him entered the room.

The young man stood transfixed a moment, and daring forward cried: "Nora—it's come back—Nora! You brought it back—you brought my memory back!"

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett were quietly married last week in Nashville by Rev. W. W. Woodruff, only a few close friends attending the ceremony.

above standard requirements, or its equivalent, at $100 a month, and for high school teachers having the above standard requirements, a salary of $125 a month.

"6. We endorse the publication of a bulletin under the direction of the State Teachers' association, whereby school information of interest to the general public may be disseminated among the masses, this publication bearing the same relation to the people of Tennessee that the publication of the National Education association bears to the nation.

"7. Recognizing that one of the greatest needs of the schools of the state is more money, with which to operate, and recognizing the further fact that the state has increased its revenue for school purposes in the past seventeen years from $150,000 annually to nearly two and one-half million dollars annually, one million of which is set aside for equalizing educational opportunity in the poorer counties of the state, we favor the passage of an act requiring the counties to levy a five mill tax before being permitted to share in this fund."

SPENDS DAY HERE
A. G. Telford, traveling agent for the Chicago & Northwestern railway, of Cincinnati, spent the day in the city Tuesday in conference with local officials.

BILLY SUNDAY COMING; THEY'LL ALL BE THERE

Virginia Asher Council Will Celebrate Occasion by Attending Both Services.

If no other good was done as a result of the Billy Sunday meetings here last year, than the organization of the Virginia Asher council, the people of Chattanooga have been well paid for the time and money given to the campaign.

This council has done a splendid work during the year that has passed since the meetings. While credit is due Billy Sunday for making the organization possible, much more is due Mrs. William A. Asher, under whose instruction the council was organized and put into operation.

In celebration of the return visit of Billy Sunday and as a special recognition of Mrs. Asher, the council members will attend the services to be held Thursday night by Billy Sunday at the big tabernacle.

A telegram was received today from Mrs. Virginia Asher stating that she would reach Chattanooga on Thursday morning and will meet with the council at St. Paul's church at 12 o'clock Thursday evening, after which the members of the council will go to the tabernacle for the services at 7:30.

On Friday afternoon the Billy Sunday committee has arranged for special reservations for members of the Virginia Asher council and request that the employers of these girls give them time off on Friday.

The council also announces that while no reservations will be made at the evening meeting, except the platform seats to accommodate the choir, they will, in addition, hold until 7:30, a section for the accommodation of the pastors of the city and their wives.

The Virginia Asher council was started during the Billy Sunday campaign by Mrs. William Asher for business women.

The business women composing its membership are from factories, mills, stores, banks, offices, telegraph and telephone offices, laundries, public libraries, nurses, teachers, doctors, etc.

The council has been holding its meetings at St. Paul's parish house every Thursday evening from 6 to 8. On these occasions excellent programs of music, singing and short talks are given. A Bible class from 7 to 8 has been conducted with Miss Ava Wright as teacher, and it may be added right here that Miss Wright has proved a wonderful influence over the members.

At the recent meeting a supper is served at 20 cents which in turn is much appreciated by the working women.

The membership of the council represents churches of all denominations, but especially are non-christian girls most cordially welcomed to learn of the greater and better ways of living by being a Christian.

The attendance has averaged about 150 to 200. The membership fee is $1 per year, payable any time, in part or as a whole. There are about 400 paid members to date and more joining every meeting. There is no age limit.

The council has a president and other officers elected annually by the girls. The girls vote on all questions at the monthly business meeting. An advisory committee composed of business and nonbusiness women called the conservation committee assists the council and is responsible for the weekly supper.

Miss Kate Rice is president of the council and Mrs. E. F. Moore is the new chairman of the conservation committee.

Some of the results of the council have been prayer meetings in many business houses, where several girls have been won to Christ; many have had their faith strengthened, personal work among individuals has been done, a strong bond of friendship and good fellowship has been established. The girls come to the meetings because they like to come, and the interest and enthusiasm that is being shown this fall after a vacation of two months shows a most promising future for the organization.

At Hotel Patten.
A telegram has been received by Manager John E. Lovell, of the Hotel Patten, from "Billy Sunday" stating that he and "Ma" Sunday would be the guests of the hotel while in the city Thursday and Friday.

All arrangements have been made by the old Billy Sunday organization for the meeting to be held at the tabernacle Thursday night, and the afternoon meeting Friday.

Calls have been issued by Willard Warner, chairman of the general committee of the Billy Sunday organization; P. J. Kraus, chairman of the Billy Sunday choir, requesting all ushers and doormen, and all members of the choir to be present at both of these meetings in their respective places.

Billy Sunday and his party will arrive in Chattanooga Thursday at 3:25 on the Dixie Flyer, coming from his home at Wilm Lake, where he went from Roanoke, Va., to cast his vote for the presidential election.

No reservations are being made at the tabernacle for either of the meetings for any organizations in the city. The only seats in the tabernacle to be reserved will be for newspaper people, members of the choir, and a section for the colored people.

REFERENDUM ON LIQUOR
Boston, Nov. 2.—Massachusetts voters today were taking a referendum on the question of approving the manufacture and sale of 3% per cent. beer with and older. An act stating that such beverages are not intoxicating liquor, which passed the last legislative session, was vetoed by Gov. Coolidge and failed of passage in the senate over the veto.

AN ENEMY TO GOOD HEALTH.
Good health has no greater enemy than constipation. You cannot "keep up" for work or play if the bowels are irregular or clogged with a decomposed mass of undigested food from which the blood picks up disease-causing impurities and carries them throughout the entire system.
